Code of Conduct

The Best Companies MC³ Code of Conduct serves as an endorsement of your professional integrity and recognition of your commitment to great leadership.

Congratulations for being recognised as either a One to Watch, 1, 2 or 3 star accredited manager. Being an accredited manager is not about being within the top bracket of managers, but instead is a standard performance set for managers to aspire to – and where achieved the MC³ Mark allows you to be recognised for your high performing achievement.

In order for your certificate to be generated, and to promote your accolade, you are required to agree to the Best Companies MC³ Code of Conduct and Terms of Use. Please be aware that certificates will be accessible to anyone searching using the certificate number on the website - <https://cert.b.co.uk/>. You also consent to Best Companies retaining your personal data in order for verification of your accreditation.

The Code of Conduct sets the standard of conduct expected of all professionals that publicise their MC³ Accreditation achievement to:

1. act in a trustworthy manner, in the best interest of their employer and those in the Best Companies Community
2. act consistently within the public interest. Decisions should be consistent with an ethical approach and the highest professional standards.
3. assist colleagues and co-workers in their professional development and support them to follow an ethical approach.
4. avoid real or perceived conflict of interest and not accept gifts or discounts in relation to their MC³ Accreditation.
5. reject corruption in any form and work fairly and independently.
6. disclose any possible conflict of interest to every affected party.
7. treat all people fairly regardless of factors such as religion, race, gender, disability or age.
8. not act in any way which would damage the reputation or interests of the MC³ Accreditation, their employer or Best Companies Limited.
